

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
WESTERN DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON
AT SEATTLE

PRINCIPAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY,

Plaintiff,

v.

MEGANN MALIA HILL,

Defendant.

CASE NO. C21-1716 MJP

ORDER ON MOTION FOR DEFAULT JUDGMENT

This matter comes before the Court on Plaintiff's Motion for Entry of Default Judgment. (Dkt. No. 21.) Having reviewed the Motion and all supporting materials, the Court GRANTS the Motion and ENTERS DEFAULT JUDGMENT against Defendant Megan Malia Hill, individually and as personal representative of the Estate of Jeffrey Thomas Hill.

BACKGROUND

Plaintiff Principal Life Insurance Company seeks rescission of Defendant's deceased husband's life insurance policy, Group Policy No. GL 1087314 ("Policy") (See Am. Compl. ¶¶ 3, 6 (Dkt. No. 6).) Plaintiff alleges that after Defendant's husband's death and within the Policy's two-year contestability period, it learned that Defendant's husband made material misrepresentations and omissions on the life insurance application. (Am. Compl. ¶¶ 15-16 and Ex. A.) Although Plaintiff has paid the guaranteed issue amount on the Policy ($20,000) and does not seek its return, it asks the Court to order that the Policy be rescinded as to those amounts exceeding the guaranteed issue amount due to misrepresentations and omissions made by the decedent in the insurance application. Plaintiff alleges that there are several material discrepancies between the decedent's health records and his life insurance application. (See Am. Compl. ¶¶ 19-33 and Exs. A-G thereto.) Plaintiff alleges that it relied on these representations in issuing the Policy and now seeks rescission. (See id.)

Defendant has been personally served, but has not made an appearance in this matter. (Dkt. No. 16.) The Court has entered default. (Dkt. No. 19.) Plaintiff now moves for entry of default judgment.

ANALYSIS

A. Legal Standard

After entry of default, the Court may enter a default judgment. Fed. R. Civ. P. 55(b). This determination is discretionary. See Alan Neuman Prods., Inc. v. Albright, 862 F.2d 1388, 1392 (9th Cir. 1988). "Factors which may be considered by courts in exercising discretion as to the entry of a default judgment include: (1) the possibility of prejudice to the plaintiff, (2) the merits of plaintiff's substantive claim, (3) the sufficiency of the complaint, (4) the sum of money at stake in the action; (5) the possibility of a dispute concerning material facts; (6) whether the default was due to excusable neglect, and (7) the strong policy underlying the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure favoring decisions on the merits." Eitel v. McCool, 782 F.2d 1470, 1471-72 (9th Cir. 1986). In performing this analysis, "the general rule is that well-pled allegations in the complaint regarding liability are deemed true.” Fair Hous. of Marin v. Combs, 285 F.3d 899, 906 (9th Cir. 2002) (quotation and citation omitted). And “[t]he district court is not required to make detailed findings of fact.” Id.

B. Jurisdiction

Before entering default judgment, the Court must assure itself that it has subject matter jurisdiction. The Court finds that it has subject matter jurisdiction over Plaintiff’s claims which are brought under ERISA, 29 U.S.C. §§ 1001, 1132.

C. Eitel Factors Favor Default Judgment

The seven Eitel factors weigh in favor of entry of default judgment in Plaintiff’s favor.

1. Factor One: Prejudice to Plaintiff

Without entry of default judgment Plaintiff will be prejudiced by not having a decision on the merits of its claim for rescission of the Policy. Plaintiff attempted to resolve this dispute with Defendant before filing the action without success, and Defendant has demonstrated an unwillingness to participate in this lawsuit. Plaintiff faces prejudice by not being able to obtain complete relief on its claims against Defendant without a default judgment. This factor therefore weighs in favor of granting default judgment.

2. Factors Two and Three: Merits of Plaintiffs’ Claims and Sufficiency of Complaint

Plaintiff has demonstrated the merit of its claims and the sufficiency of the allegations against Defendant. Plaintiff’s well-pleaded allegations, which the Court accepts as true, and the supporting exhibits show that it is entitled to rescission of the Policy and that rescission is a remedy available under ERISA. See Sec. Life Ins. Co. of Am. v. Meyling, 146 F.3d 184, 1191 (9th Cir. 1998); (Am. Compl. ¶¶ 1-41.) This satisfies these two Eitel factors, which weigh in favor of entry of default judgment.

The amount Plaintiff seeks is relatively small, which favors entry of default judgment.

4. Factor Five: Possibility of Dispute of Material Facts

5. Factor Six: Whether Default is Due to Excusable Neglect

6. Factor Seven: Strong Policy in Favor of Decision on the Merits

1 Having considered and balanced the Eitel factors, the Court finds that entry of default
2 judgment is proper.

3 D. Rescission

4 Plaintiff seeks rescission of the Policy as to those amounts exceeding the guaranteed
5 issue amount ($20,000) due to misrepresentations and omissions made by the decedent in the 6 insurance application. As Plaintiff has demonstrated, ERISA permits rescission of insurance
7 contracts entered into under false representations of health. See Meyling, 146 F.3d at 1191.

8 Having considered the allegations in the Amended Complaint and the supporting materials, the 9 Court finds that the Plaintiff is entitled to rescission of the Policy amounts exceeding the $20,000
10 guaranteed issue amount due to the material misrepresentations and omissions in the insurance
11 application. The Court therefore GRANTS the Motion and DECLARES the Policy coverage in 12 excess of the guaranteed amount ($20,000) void ab initio.

13 E. Attorneys' Fees and Costs

14 Plaintiff requests an award of attorneys' fees ($9,942) and costs ($532.32).

15 Under ERISA, the court "in its discretion may allow a reasonable attorney's fee and costs
16 of action to either party" in an action brought by a "participant, beneficiary, or fiduciary." 29
17 U.S.C. § 1132(g)(1). To obtain an award of attorneys' fees under this section, the moving party
18 must demonstrate that they achieved "some degree of success on the merits." Hardt v. Reliance 19 Standard Life Ins. Co., 560 U.S. 242, 255 (2010). The moving party makes this showing if "the 20 court can fairly call the outcome of the litigation some success on the merits without conducting 21 a 'lengthy inquir[y] into the question whether a particular party's success was substantial or 22 occurred on a central issue.'" Id. (quoting Ruckelshaus v. Sierra Club, 463 U.S. 680, 688 n.9
23 (1983) (internal quotations omitted)). Where the party has achieved some success but did not 24

1 “prevail[ ] completely,” the Court considers five factors, the “Hummell factors,” in deciding
 2 whether to award fees and costs. Simonia v. Glendale Nissan/Infiniti Disability Plan, 608 F.3d
 3 1118, 1121 (9th Cir. 2010) (quoting Hummell v. S.E. Rykoff & Co., 634 F.2d 446, 453 (9th Cir.
 4 1980)). The Hummell factors are as follows:

5 (1) the degree of the opposing parties’ culpability or bad faith; (2) the ability of the 6 opposing parties to satisfy an award of fees; (3) whether an award of fees against the 7 opposing parties would deter others from acting under similar circumstances; (4) whether 8 the parties requesting fees sought to benefit all participants and beneficiaries of an ERISA plan or to resolve a significant legal question regarding ERISA; and (5) the relative merits of the parties’ positions.

9 Hummell, 634 F.2d at 453.

10 The Court finds that Plaintiff has achieved success on the merits. And to the extent
 11 necessary, the Court finds that the Hummel factors weigh in favor of a fee award. First, Plaintiff
 12 has alleged that Defendant is culpable for having made material misrepresentations and 13 omissions in the life insurance application and that there is a valid basis for rescission. Second,
 14 though there is no evidence as to Defendant’s finances, there is evidence that Defendant received
 15 $20,000 from the Policy (roughly half of the requested award). This shows that at least some 16 funds should be available to Defendant to satisfy the award requested. Third, the award of fees 17 here would likely deter others from making material misrepresentations and omissions in 18 applying for life insurance. Fourth, Plaintiff has failed to articulate how this lawsuit resolves a 19 significant legal question regarding ERISA or how the relief sought benefits the participants and 20 beneficiaries of the ERISA plan at issue. Fifth, the Court is satisfied that based on the 21 allegations, Plaintiff’s claims have merit and that there is no apparent merit in Defendant’s
 22 opposition. On balance, these factors weigh in favor of an award of attorneys’ fees.

23 The Court follows the “lodestar” method for determining reasonable attorneys’ fees. City
 24 of Riverside v. Rivera, 477 U.S. 561, 568 (1986). To calculate the lodestar, the Court multiplies

1 the number of hours counsel reasonably spent on the case by a reasonable hourly rate. Hensley v.
2 Eckerhart, 461 U.S. 424, 433 (1983). Though the Court may adjust the lodestar upwards or 3 down, there is a “strong presumption” that the lodestar represents the reasonable fee. See Fischer
4 v. SJB-P.D. Inc., 214 F.3d 1115, 1119 n.4 (9th Cir. 2000). “In determining a reasonable hourly
5 rate, the district court should be guided by the rate prevailing in the community for similar work
6 performed by attorneys of comparable skill, experience, and reputation.” Chalmers v. City of Los 7 Angeles, 796 F.2d 1205, 1210–11 (9th Cir. 1986), opinion amended on denial of reh'g, 808 F.2d
8 1373 (9th Cir. 1987).

9 The Court is satisfied that the hourly rates claimed by counsel are reasonable. Counsel
10 has demonstrated that they fall within the prevailing rates in the community for counsel of 11 similar experience and skill. (See Mot. at 13 (collecting cases approving rates of similar 12 counsel).) The Court has reviewed the time spent by counsel in this matter. The Court deducts
13 $825 from the lodestar to reflect time that Counsel spent attempting to correct deficiencies
14 created by counsel’s failure to follow the District’s procedures for redacting and filing materials
15 under seal. (Dkt. No. 22-5 at 3-4 (time billed on 1/6/22 and 2/15-16/22).) This time was not 16 reasonably expended and it would be unfair and unreasonable to include that time in the 17 judgment. The Court is otherwise satisfied that the time billed is reasonable. The Court therefore 18 AWARD $9,117 in attorneys’ fees. The Court also finds that the costs requested are reasonable
19 and further AWARD $532.32 in costs. In full, the Court AWARD $9,649.32 in attorneys’ fees
20 and costs.

21 CONCLUSION

22 The Court is satisfied that Plaintiff is entitled to default judgment in its favor and that the 23 Policy should be rescinded as to the amounts over the guaranteed issue amount ($20,000). The 24

1 Court GRANTS the Motion and ENTERS DEFAULT JUDGMENT in Plaintiff's favor. The
2 Court DECLARES that the Policy is void ab initio as to those amount over the guaranteed issue
3 amount. And with minor alterations, the Court finds that Plaintiff is entitled to an award of 4 attorneys' fees and costs. The Court AWARDS Plaintiff $9,117 in attorneys' fees and $532.32 in 5 costs.

6 The Court directs the Clerk to separately enter judgment reflecting this relief.

7 The Clerk is ordered to provide copies of this order to all counsel.
